CLAIMSTitle of Invention – Inseyed Putting Alignment System

The embodiment of the invention in which an exclusive property is claimed, are defined as follows:

1. A golf putting alignment system that aligns a golfer's eyes perpendicular over the centerline of a putter, the said alignment system is applied to a putter that has a shaft attached near the toe of a putter head and extends up and across the center line and passes over the heel, the said putting alignment system uses two reference marks, the first mark being the centerline on a putter's head and the second mark being a corresponding mark on the top of a putter's shaft perpendicular to the centerline mark below, the only point on the top shaft that can be used for the second line is the point perpendicular from the centerline, when the two lines are visually aligned it indicates to a golfer that their eyes are perpendicular over the center of a putters head when a putter is in the putting position.
